

Thank you for your interest in working for Bristol Beacon.

Bristol Beacon is run by Bristol Music Trust, and we recognise, respect and value individual difference. We are committed to the wellbeing of our staff and to being an Equal Opportunities employer and attracting diverse talent from sections of the community currently underrepresented in the culture sector to help us to develop a more diverse workforce.

We hope to attract applicants with the skills and experience to help us to widen our perspective and better serve the needs of our communities. If you are from a background that is underrepresented in the culture sector, we are looking for people who have a range of different experience and the enthusiasm to develop their chosen field of work with us.

Guidance on completing our application form

Thank you for your interest in applying for a role with Bristol Beacon. We have put the following notes together to help you understand how our processes work and how to fill in your application form as effectively as possible.

Our recruitment portal guides you through completing our application form. If you need to discuss providing your application form in a different way, please do get in touch to talk about this.

Equal Opportunities

Bristol Beacon recognise, respect and value individual difference. We are committed to being an Equal Opportunities employer and attracting diverse talent from sections of the community currently underrepresented in the culture sector to help us to develop a more diverse workforce.

Any Equal Opportunities information you provide will not be used when short-listing, it is anonymised, will be kept separate from your application, and all information will be treated in the strictest confidence.

Diversity monitoring is important as it helps us understand whether we are reaching all groups of the community through our recruitment advertising and ensures that we are meeting the aims of the Equality Act.

Reasonable Adjustments at interview

We committed to making reasonable adjustments to make interviews and jobs more accessible. If you are invited to interview you will be asked to let us know if you have any requirements in relation to the interview.

Disabled applicants who meet the essential criteria for the role, as detailed in the Essential Criteria within the Job Description, will be offered an interview.

Understanding the role and our application process

Please read the Job Description before starting your application. This document contains background information on Bristol Beacon and the relevant team that the role is part of. The “Key Responsibilities” section in the Job Description describes the day to day tasks, duties, and accountabilities in more detail and includes the Competencies that relate to each of these “Key Responsibilities”.

The “Employee Specification” section in the Job Description describes the Competencies (the knowledge, skills, and experience) you will require to fulfil the role. We would like you to describe within your personal statement how your skills and experience meets the criteria within these Competencies.

Please tell us as much as possible so we have a full picture of your skills, experience, and abilities and please explain any gaps in your employment history, perhaps you took time out to do something else, all of your experience could be relevant for the role that you are applying for, whatever your route into your chosen field, we are interested to hear about it.

Interviews

If your application is successful we will invite you to meet us for an interview, and this is likely to be in person. We may invite you to interview via an online interview through Microsoft Teams, and if you would like to discuss anything in relation to our interview process, or you require any reasonable adjustments, please don't hesitate to get in touch with us hr@bristolbeacon.org

Convictions and Disclosure

The Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 as modified by the Legal Aid, Sentencing and Punishment Act 2012, gives individuals the right not to disclose details of old offences as they are deemed to be “spent”. However, for some jobs employers are allowed to ask about these offences. Certain jobs, such as those working with children or adults at risk, will require a check on previous convictions [including those deemed to be spent], plus details of any cautions, reprimands, or warnings.

We will follow the Disclosure Barring Service Code of Practice concerning the use of information gained from the Disclosure Service, which ensures that sensitive personal information is handled and stored appropriately and is kept for only as long as necessary.

References

Your current or most recent employer (this includes work experience, volunteering, and internships) should be named as someone we can approach for a reference, followed by your previous employer as second referee. In some cases we may ask your permission to take up references when you are offered an interview, but generally we do not do this, and we would always talk to you to gain your permission if we wanted to approach a referee at this stage.

If you are related to a referee in any way - for example, if you have formally been employed by a member of your family - please make this clear. If you have not been employed before, you should give the name of someone who will be able to comment on your skills and abilities, such as a teacher or lecturer, or other professional person who is not a friend or relative.

Right to Work

Bristol Beacon has a responsibility to comply with immigration legislation as set out in the Immigration, Asylum and Nationality Act 2006, the recent July 2021 legislation, the Government's Employer's Guide to Right to Work Checks February 2022, and any other legislation or guidance issued by either the Home Office or the UK Border Agency.

It is our responsibility to ensure that any workers we employ are eligible to work in the UK. If you are successful in being offered an interview, you will be advised of the documentation you are required to produce to verify that you are eligible to work in the UK, usually your passport, and we will ask you to provide this before your interview.

Data Protection Statement

All of the information collected in our application process is necessary and relevant to applying for a role with us. We will use the information provided by you on this form, and by the referees you have noted, for recruitment purposes only. We will treat all personal information with the utmost confidentiality and in line with current data protection legislation. We rely on the lawful basis of legally required duties and legitimate interests to process the information provided by you in this form.

Should you be successful in your application, the information provided, and further information which will be gathered at the relevant time, will be subsequently used for the contractual administration of your employment and in relation to any legal challenge which may be made regarding our recruitment practices.

For more information on how we use the information you have provided, please see our Privacy Notice for Job Applicants which is available on our website.

Late Applications

Your applications must reach us by the stated closing date. Our recruitment portal will not allow the submission of late applications and we do not accept late applications.

Interviews and Feedback

You will receive a response once your application has been submitted letting you know that we have received your application.

We will contact all applicants again once shortlisting has taken place, we are unable to provide detailed feedback to candidates not shortlisted for interview, but you will either receive an email letting you know you are being offered an interview or you will receive an email letting you know you've been unsuccessful on this occasion.

Recruitment Documents

Application forms and recruitment documents are confidential documents and will normally only be seen by those who need to see them in order to recruit and select. However, Bristol Beacon audit its recruitment and selection processes, and we must therefore inform you that our auditors may require access to recruitment documents for auditing purposes.
